

Dollar Days Break Records; Merchants Report Stores Are Crowded On Friday And Today

"The most successful Dollar Days in Gettysburg's history."

This was the consensus of opinion among Gettysburg merchants participating in the Friday and Saturday "opportunity" sales event as reported to The Gettysburg Times.

The reports were based in part on the Friday Dollar Day business, the crowds which filled the stores this morning, and an anticipated record business during the afternoon and evening today.

Shoppers heeded the warning to shop early before the best bargains were snapped up. Merchants said from opening time Friday morning there were crowds of shoppers on the streets and in stores, and that this morning was a repetition of the early shopping.

Find New Customers

Most of those who sought the bargains advertised by the merchants in The Gettysburg Times knew what they were looking for, and the price they expected to pay, indicating that they had read carefully all the advertisements for the two Dollar Days.

"People can no longer be considered just customers," one merchant pointed out. "They are shoppers. They shop from store to store. They are only 'customers' when they are satisfied, and return again and again," he said.

Dollar Days, according to indications, were making new friends and customers for many Gettysburg stores.

Friday's Dollar Day had to be good, according to several merchants, to surpass the last semi-annual event, but judging from the number of people in the stores and the amount of buying, the record was beaten.

HEAT BROKEN BY SHOWERS AFTER 6 DAYS

Welcome relief from the heat that kept top temperatures at or above 90 degrees for six consecutive days here followed Friday evening showers. The rainfall amounted to 0.33 inches in Gettysburg while northern parts of the county got little or no rain.

Last night's low here was 69 degrees after a high of 90 degrees Friday afternoon.

Turkish bath temperatures and humidity are just a memory to Pennsylvanians today and they didn't have to hear it from the weatherman that the heat wave is broken.

It took a lot of cold air from Canada to push the six-day heat wave into a decline. The first welcome signs of the cold front moved in yesterday to keep the temperature in most sections of the state within bounds.

The weatherman confirmed what everybody knew with his forecast for temperatures no higher than 85 in the state today. Sunday, he said, will be partly cloudy with pleasant temperatures all over the state.

Torrential Rains

Philadelphia had a high yesterday of 92 while Pittsburgh residents enjoyed a mild 83. It was the first time Sunday the mercury stayed below the 90 mark in Pittsburgh.

A torrential rain in Allentown brought .85 of an inch in 11 minutes and sent the mercury spinning 15 degrees down the scale from the high of 85. The storm, coupled with one Thursday night, gave Allentown 2.08 inches of rain in less than 24 hours.

Wilkes-Barre also reported rain and a high of only 79 for the day.

The skirt, which was banded by the same lace, ended in a chapel length train. Her fingertip veil of French illusion was held in place by a tulle of seed pearls and she carried a Colonial bouquet of gardenias and white roses.

Mrs. William D. Nash, a sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Mrs. Henry M. Garber and Miss Molly Gross, friends of the bride, were bridesmaids. Mrs. Nash was groomed in white mousseline de soie over a blue tulle underskirt gathered at the waist in a large blue tulle sash.

Mrs. Garber and Miss Gross wore gowns of white mousseline de soie over lavender tulle with large lavender tulle sashes. The attendants wore large horse-hair-braid hats of the same color and carried Colonial bouquets. The bride's mother wore a gown of melon crepe with a corsage of gardenias.

David Clair Blosser III, Gettysburg, was the best man. Ushers were Thomas Wilt, brother of the bridegroom, and Donald C. Feiser, both of Littlestown. The men wore white boutonnieres from the bride's bouquet.

Music was furnished by a string quartet, which played selections of the bride and groom's choice.

A reception was held at the home of the bride, after which the newlyweds left for a honeymoon in the Poconos. The bride has chosen a white suit with pink accessories for traveling. Upon their return, the couple will reside in Littlestown.

The bride is supervisor of music in the Littlestown school Jointure. The bridegroom is employed as bookkeeper for the D. D. Basehart, Ford garage, Littlestown.

He was discovered by the night operator a short time before a train was due, but the operator was unable to move Petters and called police. The latter said the man was an itinerant lawnmower repairer.

Fat Men Make Best Hubbies

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 13 (AP)—Fat men make the best husbands, and school teachers the best wives.

That's the word from the director of the National Institute for Human Relations.

Dr. James F. Bender of New York city declared at the closing summer session convocation of Buffalo State Teachers' college yesterday:

"The fat man is the least likely to want a divorce, he is a tender and faithful lover and he is more easily persuaded to wash the dishes and get up at night to look at the baby."

Bender, who thinks he's the "Tolypoly type" himself, had this to say to marriage-minded gentlemen:

"School teachers love children and they make good mothers, x x x Teachers are well adjusted personalities as a rule and are less inclined to be neurotic than the average American woman."

Furthermore, he said when a woman has been giving classroom lectures all day long, she returns home at night too tired to talk, this is "sheer heaven" to most married males.

Marine Explorer Set To Try 6,000-Ft. Ocean Dive

Smugler's Cove, Calif., Aug. 13 (AP)—Man and science were ready today for a dramatic attempt to conquer the crushing pressure of ocean water more than a mile deep.

If all goes well, by nightfall Otis Barton, 48, of Boston, Harvard-trained marine explorer, will be the first human in history to have peered into the icy depths 6,000 feet down, where unknown, presumably weird creatures live and sunlight never penetrates.

The location for this colossal dunking venture is near this cove on the southeast shore of Santa Cruz island, 25 miles south of Santa Barbara.

Barton in this world record dive attempt hoped to open a new frontier of scientific exploration—studies of possible food and oil resources in the ocean depths, underwater vegetation, information for military

RED CROSS ENDS WATER SAFETY PROGRAM FOR '49

With the issuance today of cards to successful candidates in the final swimming classes, the Adams County chapter of the Red Cross concluded its water safety program for the year.

"It has been a successful year and it is hoped that next year will bring ever greater opportunity to teach Adams county children and adults the fun of learning to swim and be safe in the water," said Mrs. Elizabeth Pennington, executive secretary of the chapter.

Approximately 400 youngsters from many parts of the county received instruction in the six-week program.

Won Certificates

The following, who trained at the Battlefield pool, received senior life saving certificates: John D. Thrush and Ray Goodmuth. Junior life saving cards went to Edwin Bachman, John Butterfield, John Fry, Sarah Scott and Joyce Sanders. Phelps Pennington received a swimmer's card.

Beginners' certificates were earned by the following: Raymond Unks, Bard Bloom, Jonathan Taylor, William Decker, Mrs. Robert Ditchburn, Mrs. George Boyd, Donna Reel, Anna Mary Diehl, Rosemary Hartman, Arlene Stotler, Richard Wolf and Clair Worley.

The competent guidance classes were instructed by Edward Muhlbach, John Harford, Martha Adams, Betsy Blocher, Betty Schaff and Patricia Killalea. Classes were held at the Battlefield pool, Gettysburg; Crouse pool, Littlestown, and Marsh Creek Heights.

Great Deal Of Progress

"The appreciation of the Red Cross chapter has been expressed to the owners of the pools, Miss Betty Lamont and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Crouse, for their generosity in making the pools available without charge; to the Gettysburg Recreation association for the fine assistance and cooperation that made the Marsh Creek classes possible, and to Robert Smith of the Adams Electric Co-operative for his assistance with the floats.

"The instructors, in reviewing the program, again stress the fact that it is their aim to give a solid foundation in the basic skills. They wisely, have 'made heads slowly.' Certificates are not awarded until the whole progression is complete—breath-holding and rhythmic breathing, then the mastery of buoyancy, balance and relaxation by floating and gliding, next the kicking and arm strokes and finally the coordination of the complete stroke," said Mrs. Pennington.

"It is foolish and unfair to rush a beginner through the basic skills. Not only does it result in making a poor swimmer but it gives the child a dangerously false notion of his own ability. Therefore, not too many certificates have been awarded but a great deal of progress has been made, as shown by the individual records on the skill sheets."

Executives Feature Times Advertisements

Two advertisements from The Gettysburg Times were selected for display at the mid-year conference of the Newspaper Advertising Executives Association in New Orleans, last June according to Metro's Plus Business, bulletin.

The advertisements were those of Maring's.

"The campaign for Maring's, the local Kelvinator dealer, effectively identified the manufacturer with the store name by laying out the letter 'K' and 'M' in giant size in each ad of a series.

"Plenty of white space was used in most of the ads. As the campaign progressed, copy became more informative, but always the stand-out 'K' and 'M' appeared to establish the tie-in," said the article accompanying a reproduction of two of the advertisements.

Three Injured As Car Strikes Train

Three persons, including a Hanover mother and her daughter, were patients Friday at the Hanover hospital suffering from injuries received late Thursday night when an automobile in which they were riding plowed into a parked train on the Center street crossing of the Western Maryland Railway in Hanover.

Admitted to the hospital were Boyd R. Grove, 29, New Oxford R. 1, driver of the car, who is suffering from a fractured nose, possible chest injuries and bruises of the left knee; Mrs. Grace Karlus, 37, Hanover, compound fractured right ankle and lacerations of the face, and her daughter, Miss Mary Louise Karlus, 18, lacerations of the lower lip. Miss Karlus also had two front teeth knocked out.

The policeman told investigating State Police Officer Michael J. Morgalis and Paul Kury, of the York substation, that he was driving his sedan south on Center street, Hanover about 30 miles per hour and failed to see the train parked across the crossing. The force of the impact damaged his car to the extent of $200.

Here And There News Collected At Random

It is interesting to note how much tourist business is attracted to Gettysburg with little or no effort on our part. The Chamber of Commerce sends out folders and some photographs but that just about constitutes our total effort to bring more visitors here. The visitation is growing each year. How much more can be attracted if we devote more time, effort and money to building this, one of our best industries?

Two-thirds of all the meat consumed in this country is "grown" west of the Mississippi. But two-thirds of the people who eat the meat live east of the Mississippi.

Many years ago Mark Twain was editor of a small-town newspaper. A reader wrote in saying that he had found a spider in his paper, and wanted to know if that was an omen of good or bad luck. Mark Twain answered: "Finding a spider in your newspaper is neither good nor bad luck. The spider was merely looking over our paper to see which merchant was not advertising so he could go to that store, spin his web across the door and lead a life of undisturbed peace ever afterward."

Because of the rising incidence of infantile paralysis for the second consecutive year, the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis has advanced from its national headquarters to its chapters in 40 states to date the sum of $3,551,265.97 in emergency aid, it has been announced by Basil O'Connor, president.

This sum compares with $1,723,558, or double the amount advanced for the same purpose during the first seven months of 1948, a year in which there were more cases of infantile paralysis than in any other since 1916. Mr. O'Connor pointed out. Pennsylvania received $2,593.78 compared with $10,000 during the first seven months of last year.

LEIONNAIRES TO ELECT NEW PA. COMMANDER

Pittsburgh, Aug. 13 (AP)—Weary American Legion delegates prepared to end their annual state convention today by picking a new commander and holding their annual parade in torrid temperatures.

Walter L. Alessandrini, Philadelphia attorney and 39-year-old war II veteran, appeared to have the edge to lead the largest Legion unit in the nation. However, he anticipated stiff competition from Richard White, 49, of Philadelphia, and Herbert N. Walker of Langhorne, Pa., both World War I veterans.

The delegates, who sweltered through some of the hottest weather of the year, wrangled three hours yesterday over a proposed 25-cent monthly hike in dues—then killed the proposal. Philadelphia's big delegation led the fight against the boost. The money would have provided more funds for veterans' rehabilitation work.

Heffernan Named
Officers elected include the Rev. Harlan J. Davis of Eldred (Erie county), as chaplain.

Three new regional vice commanders were chosen but there was competition in only one district. W. C. McCarthy, Claysburg high school principal, defeated John T. Schwartz, Charleroi, 566-487 for the western vice commandership.

James W. Heffernan of York and Lou M. Krebs, Port Carbon, were named central and eastern vice commanders, respectively.

The legion's auxiliary chose Mrs. Leona Bradley of Braddock, as president. She is the wife of Allegheny county Commander Leonard J. Bradley.

The Legion also elected 19 new district commanders to two-year terms. The other 17 districts will select new heads at next year's conventions.

Coward Appointed Navy Plebe Coach

Annapolis, Md., Aug. 13 (AP)—Comdr. Asbury (Red) Coward, who coached Navy's 150-pound football team to two undefeated seasons, has been named head plebe coach at the Naval Academy.

Capt. H. H. Caldwell, director of athletics, made the announcement today.

Caldwell also disclosed that four 1948 varsity lettermen will form Coward's staff.

They are Pete Williams, of Miami, Fla., and Reeves Baysinger, of Syracuse, N. Y., both backs; Bill Weir of Kerrville, Tex., a guard, and Ken Knoles, Franklin, Pa., a tackle. All are enlists called back to the academy for their first assignment.

Coward, of Wynnewood, Pa., took charge of Navy's never-beaten lightweight 11 in 1947, a year after the sport was introduced at Annapolis.

Coward was a varsity end in 1936 and 1937. He succeeds Ben Martin of Prospect, Pa., now varsity end coach.

Practice opens on Monday, but Williams will not report until early next month. He's a back on the Eastern All-Star squad which faces the New York Giants, September 1.

Report Milk Supply Will Maintain Price

Pittsburgh, Aug. 13 (AP)—The Pittsburgh Post-Gazette said today "an unusually good seasonal supply of milk will make it possible to maintain the present 20¢ cent a quart milk price this fall" in the Pittsburgh district.

The paper said the state Milk Control Commission will issue an order next week, maintaining the present price.

The Post-Gazette quoted members of the commission as declining to comment until they can hold a conference.

The price of milk in the district would be increased 1½ cents by default. An order of last spring, cutting the price that extent, will expire and the old rate would become effective Sept. 1 unless the commission issues another order.

The Post-Gazette said it understands the milk order due next week will be temporary and for an indefinite period "permitting the commission to make changes suddenly if warranted."

Washington, Aug. 13 (AP)—Senators investigating five percenters today sought a motive for the reported shipment of unskilled for home freezers to Mrs. Harry S. Truman and other Washington notables.

Chief Counsel William P. Rogers said the Senate's special investigating subcommittee has a subpoena out for Harry Hoffman, Milwaukee advertising man whose name cropped up in testimony at the inquiry. Lawmakers hoped he might shed some light on the subject.

A committee member said privately that he has seen invoices showing that a freezer was sent to Mrs. Truman at Independence, Mo., and that two were shipped Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, President Truman's army aide.

Others Receive Gifts
The senator said the invoices also list shipments to Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson, Federal Reserve Member James K. Vardaman, and Presidential Secretary Matt Connolly.

The vouchers—not yet in the record—are dated 1945 and early 1946. At that time Vinson was first reconversion director and later Secretary of the Treasury. Vardaman was Mr. Truman's naval aide.

The invoices were brought to the inquiry by Albert J. Gross, a Milwaukee businessman who testified Thursday that he shipped a freezer to Vaughan and other prominent Washingtonians. He said all of the units were paid for by the Albert Verley Co., the Chicago perfume firm for which John Maragon worked in 1945.

Maragon, who once had entree to the White House, is a key figure in the committee's search for influence peddlers.

Vinson Non-Committal
Gross' testimony was cut off after he named Vaughan as a recipient of one of the freezers. Chairman Hoyer (D-N. C.) said the committee wanted to get all the facts before putting out the rest of the names.

Another committee member said he was told Mrs. Truman sent a think-you note to Gross, thinking he was the donor.

Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross said yesterday he had "no information whatever" when he was questioned about the reports dealing with Mrs. Truman and the others. Vinson had no comment. He said he preferred to have the facts come out at the Senate investigation.

There are two current opinions about Ho. One is that his Politbureau is a typically high-handed Red powerhouse, liquidating its allies in the Republican front as well as bumping off Indo-Chinese like Bao Dai who work with the French.

The other version is that Ho's Communists by no means have attained the domination of the Nationalist front that Mao Tze-tung has in China. The idea is that Ho still leads the popular front because he has subordinated his Communism to the other elements in the Nationalist coalition that fights the French.

U. S. Must Decide
However it is known that Ho Chi-minh, while educated in Moscow, also lived many years in China and is aware of two things about the Chinese. One is that Communist China is intensely rationalistic. The other is that there is a large Chinese minority in Indo-China, which the Communists of China can use by appealing to this nationalistic spirit.

It puts up to the United States the question of whether France is going to be supported in Indo-China. The American position to date is ambiguous. When Bao Dai was enthroned, the State Department put out a vague statement saying it welcomed the step because it might lead to peace. At the same time it indicated American enthusiasm would depend upon how "the legitimate aspirations of the Viet-Nam people" are realized.

By way of emphasis—this is 3 billion, not million dollars. And it does not include tea, coffee, bananas and similar items. Of course, several products listed under "Other fibers" are not grown in this country, but it is interesting to note in passing that included under fibers is $34,443,000 worth of sisal, and sisal has been growing wild in Florida for over a century. Or objection may be entered against inclusion of spices in these commodities we import. Yet in the 1948 spice imports are found licorice, $1,989,000; mustard, $1,286,000; ginger, $463,000; sage, $288,000; caraway seed, $690,000; and several other commodities which can be grown over almost all the United States.

It may be advanced that wood and wood manufactures do not justifiably belong among farm or agricultural items. However, if we are ever to produce the vast quantities of wood pulp and pulpwod we now import from foreign lands, they will be produced by individual American farmers on individual American farms and revenues from them will rightly be considered farm wealth just as the growing tree is a farm asset.

Among commodities strange to explain in these imports are: Over 300 million pounds of tomatoes, 8½ billion pounds of sugar and molasses, 65 million pounds of fresh and frozen beef, 24 million pounds of cheese, 384 million pounds of potatoes, 127 million pounds of turnips, and 84 million pounds of tobacco.

ROOMS SCARCE FOR NATIONAL LEGION MEET

Philadelphia, Aug. 13 (AP)—The 3,000,000-member American Legion heads into its 31st national convention with "rooms-for-visitors" the biggest problem. But city officials and Legion leaders expect to take care of everybody. And they'll do it if it means stretching a room or two.

The Legion conclave opens August 29 and runs four days. During that time an estimated 200,000 visitors—men, women and children—will test the hospitality of the City of Brotherly Love.

Actually most people will travel by auto, train or bus to Philadelphia for the day only. They'll spend the nights at home.

Every available bed in the city's 65 hotels will be assigned. Some ballrooms and auditoriums will be turned into makeshift dormitories.

Biggest Convention
Vacant apartments, empty homes, fraternity and sorority buildings on college campuses, spare rooms in all sections of town—all will be utilized. Still more accommodations are on tap in cities within a 40-mile radius.

The Legion convention is the biggest organization gathering in America.

"There's nothing nearly as big," says Charles L. Todd, executive director of the Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce's Convention and Visitors Bureau. "If every Legion member decided to attend this convention we'd have to evacuate every Philadelphian."

Officials Silent
Some 8,000 hotel rooms have been allotted for Legion use in the Quaker City. This will accommodate about 22,000 persons. Another 2,000 rooms have been obtained in surrounding communities. "We probably could use several thousand more," Todd adds.

Legion housing officials maintain official silence. They feel that too much publicity about room shortages will hurt convention attendance. But those who talk off the record, say the housing situation is well in hand.

Just housing the officials, delegates and parade participants is a mammoth undertaking. There will be 3,339 delegates representing 17,300 Legion posts—plus an equal number of alternates.

Parade August 30
Nearly 6,500 youths, from all of the 48 states, will participate in the drum and bugle corps, fire and drum and drill contests.

Then there's the monster parade on Tuesday, August 30. Legion officials expect it to last 12 hours with some 60,000 persons in the line of march. About 1,000,000 people are expected to see the Legion in action.

The convention, first national Legion conclave here since 1926, will mean about $6,000,000 for Philadelphia businessmen. "And that," says Todd, "is only a conservative estimate."

town, New Jersey and Baltimore in attendance. For the reception the room at the hotel will be given a garden effect. A spotlight will shine on the three-tier wedding cake decorated with stephanotis and stephanotis trees. Opposite the wedding table, in the center of the room, a lily pond has been set up, with water lilies, goldfish and a figurine protruding from the center, edged with ferns. Surrounding the lily pond will be white lanterns decorated with flowers and ivy. Throughout the room white gladiolus trees and large white vases of flowers will complete the garden atmosphere.

Following the reception the couple will leave for a two weeks' honeymoon in Bermuda. The bride's going away outfit will be a light beige suit with matching hat and green shoes and bag, and a white orchid corsage. The couple will reside in New York city.

EAGLES SWAMP COLLEGIANS IN ONE-SIDED GAME

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Chicago, Aug. 13 (P)—Most of the star collegians, already signed for pro football clubs, rushed to training camps today to begin preparing for their play-for-pay careers.

It's a good thing many of them are in a hurry. Apparently, they have a lot to learn.

The most inept and bewildered All-Star group in the 16-year history of the football series was buried 38-0 by the Philadelphia Eagles last night.

93,780 See Massacre
The National league champions, feeding 44 players into the scramble in an effort to keep down the score, couldn't help but roll up the most decisive edge since the games were inaugurated in 1934. Forty-eight All-Stars were used out of a stockpile of 65.

A throng of 93,780 fans witnessed the massacre in Soldier Field.

Only three fine goal-line stands and other bits of defensive sparkle stood in the All-Stars' favor.

Split T Ineffective

Their heretofore offensive weapon, the split T formation, proved ineffective. Their aerial attack, behind such aces as Norm Van Brocklin of Oregon and Frank Tripucka of Notre Dame netted a minus three yards with three completions in 15 attempts.

With such ball-carriers as George Tallaferro of Indiana, Smackover Scott of Arkansas, Jack Mitchell of Oklahoma and Bobby Stuart of Army in action, the All-Stars shoved their way through the Eagles for a mere 115 yards rushing.

The Eagles uncorked 19 first downs to give 228 yards rushing and 130 passing.

Five Eagles Score

But more emphatic than figures was the All-Stars' inability to penetrate beyond midfield but once. That was in a first period drive that ended in a lost fumble on the Eagles' 30.

In jamming over 17 points in the second quarter, seven in the third and 14 in the last, five different Eagles went for touchdowns—Steve Buren, Russ Craft, Pete Pihos, Able Doss, and Neil Armstrong. Cliff Patton added a 16-yard field goal.

Sports Roundup

By FRITZ HOWELL

Vandalia, O., Aug. 13 (P) — This quiet Miami Valley village is all set for America's loudest sports event.

The Grand American Trapshoot—the golden anniversary one—is booked here August 19-27. More than a million 12-gauge shotgun shells will be fired in the big barrage.

It's not only the loudest of the country's sports competitions, it is also one of the most unusual. For prize money, the professionals shooting for trophies; an admission charge is made to hold down the crowd, not as a revenue-producing angle; and the "unknowns," not the experts, generally win the big feature, the Grand American Handicap.

DEAD-EYE DICKS AND DORAS!

About 2,000 guys and gals, all except with the scatterguns, will take part in the nine-day carnival. They'll come from every state in the union, Cuba, the Canal Zone, Mexico, and all of Canada's provinces.

If you're among them, and wish to shoot in each event, you'll have to lay out $164 in entry fees alone.

If you want to get into the complicated "options," in which the shooters wager a bit on their ability, you can drop another $360 into the pot.

On top of that you'll have to buy at least 64 boxes of shells on the grounds, at somewhere around $96.

The entry-optional-shell cost is in the neighborhood of $620.50, which isn't a bad neighborhood, and on top of that you must pile your transportation, lodging, food and incidental expenses.

For your outlay you get a chance to fire for about $50,000 in prizes, a sore shoulder and an unknown amount of optional returns. You'll also get a chance to meet some of the country's most colorful characters, including some gals who could make Annie Oakley look like a novice with a shooting iron.

Eastern League

(By The Associated Press)

The Scranton Miners have figured in more games decided by one run this season than any other team in the Eastern League. Thirty-seven of their contests have been decided by a lone tally. The Miners were the losers in 22 of them.

They won their 15th that way last night with a pair of ninth-inning runs that gave them a 6-5 decision over the Hartford Chiefs and an even split in their four-game series.

The win put the Miners within a half game of second place, now occupied by Wilkes-Barre. The Indians were beaten, 9-4, by the league leading Albany Senators who thus restored their margin to 20 games.

The Binghamton Triplets kept right on Scranton's heels in the hot scramble for the circuit's runner-up honors. The Triplets split a twin bill with Williamsport. The Tigers won the opener, 5-2. Binghamton took the nightcap, 10-7.

The Elmira Pioneers pushed the Utica Blue Sox two and one-half games into the cellar with an 8-5 pasting.

The Miners, who had lost five out of six starts on the road before last night, piled up a 4-0 lead before the Chiefs got to Scranton starter Bob Littlefield in the fifth for one run. They counted two in the sixth and chased Littlefield with two more in the seventh. Sid Schacht came on for Scranton and got credit for the win.

Interstate League

(By The Associated Press)

Allentown overcame a four run deficit to defeat Lancaster, 11 to 9, last (Friday) night and increase its Interstate league lead to six and one-half games.

Lancaster pitcher Red Sweeney loaded the bases in the sixth inning and before Allentown finished the frame the Cardinals had pushed over five runs.

The Harrisburg Senators, with an 8 to 6 victory over the Sunbury Reds, went into second place by a scant margin of one percentage point. Wilmington dropped to third place as it lost a 10 to 7 game to the Trenton Giants. The Giants and Wilmington scattered 29 base hits. Wilmington has 60 wins to Harrisburg's 59 but has dropped one more contest than Harrisburg's 49 losses.

The cellar dwelling Hagerstown Owls made it two straight over the York White Roses, 5 to 2. First Baseman Ray Harbaugh homered in the eighth for the Owls' final run.

Tonight's schedule: Lancaster at York, Sunbury at Wilmington, Harrisburg at Trenton, Allentown at Hagerstown.

PROTEST FROM BROOKLYN OVER WIN BY BRAVES

By JOE REICHLER

(Associated Press Sports Writer)

The National league pennant race may be decided in President Ford Frick's office.

Frick will be asked to rule on a protest by Manager Burt Shotton of Brooklyn of the Dodgers' 5-3 defeat at the hands of the Boston Braves last night.

The loss, together with St. Louis' 8-2 triumph over Pittsburgh, dumped the Dodgers into second place, a half game back of the Cardinals.

Reversed Decision

Shotton based his protest on a decision on Duke Snider's eighth inning triple with one out. The Brooklyn outfielder's drive, which according to Umpire Art Gore hit the three-foot screen atop the center-field wall, bounded back on the playing field.

Gore first ruled it a homer, then reversed himself. Snider, running at full tilt, saw Gore signal a homer and slowed up as he came into third. He trotted home without a play being made on him.

The Braves, led by Manager Billy Southworth, stormed onto the field, protesting the call. After a conference among the four umpires, Snider was sent back to third. Gore said he thought balls hitting the screen below the railing were home runs. He said he later realized his error and waved Snider back to third. Under the ground rule such a ball is in play.

Like '47 Incident

Shotton said Gore's original call slowed up Snider on the bases, and that he might have completed the circuit even with a play on him. The score was 5-3 at the time. After going back to third Snider did not score, as the next two batters popped out.

The protest recalled a somewhat similar incident two years ago which resulted in the ordering of a replay by Frick of a Dodger-Cardinal game.

The rhabarb occurred on July 20, 1947, when Cardinal outfielder Ron Northey hit a drive similar to Snider's at Ebbets Field which was called a homer by Umpire Beans Reardon. In contrast to the Braves, the Dodgers played the runner and Northey was tagged out at the plate. Reardon reversed himself and called Northey out. The Dodgers won, 3-2.

Frick took cognizance of the fact that Northey slowed down when Reardon signalled the blow a homer and ordered the game replayed. The Dodgers won the replay and went on to win the National league flag, five games to the good of the Cards.

Snapped 6-Game Streak

Last night's defeat not only knocked the Brooks out of first place, but snapped their six-game winning streak. A pair of home runs by Jeff Heath and Tommy Holmes, each with one on, did the trick for the Braves.

Gerry Staley, Stan Musial and Joe Garagiola combined their talents to lift the Cards into first place. Staley stopped the Pittsburgh Pirates with six hits while Musial and Garagiola pounded three-run homers to give the Redbirds an 8-2 triumph.

The Boston Red Sox hopped over the Cleveland Indians into second place in the American league race by twice outscoring the hapless Washington Senators, 15-7 and 13-11 in an afternoon-night doubleheader. The Sox are five games in back of the pace-setting New York Yankees, and a half game in front of Cleveland. The Indians dropped a 6-5 verdict to the Chicago White Sox, while the Yankees walloped the Philadelphia Athletics, 7-3.

Vern Stephens led the 14-hit first game assault on four Nat hurriers with three hits including his 29th homer, and five runs batted in. The Sox were forced to come up with two tallies in the last of the eighth to snap an 11-1 tie.

Southpaw Tommy Byrne hurled four-hit ball over the last eight innings to register his 10th triumph for the Yankees.

Herb Adams' single with the bases loaded and two out in the ninth gave the White Sox their one-run decision over the Indians. The Indians had tied the score in the eighth with three runs, ignited by Larry Doby's home run.

Virgil Trucks permitted the St. Louis Browns only two hits in pitching the Detroit Tigers to a 4-1 triumph. It was his 14th against eight losses.

In an afternoon game, Hank Borowy pitched the Philadelphia Phils to a 2-0 seven-inning victory over the New York Giants. Rain halted the contest. The Chicago Cubs and Cincinnati Reds were idle.

BUCK WHITE IN CHICAGO LEAD

Chicago, Aug. 13 (P)—Buck White, a chunky, chuckling southerner who's been a pro for most of his 39 years, rode out in front today, gunning for the $10,000 first prize of the Tam O'Shanter world golf meet.

The straight-shooting Buck, who signs his name O'Neal White of Greenwood, Miss., shot a seven-under-par 65 yesterday for a half-way total of 135. He showed up a lot of youngsters, but he was only one stroke in front.

Taking only 28 putts and eagling the 10th hole, bushy-haired Buck whanged out 34-31-65. With his opening 70, that made him nine under par.

Right behind old Buck was Johnny Palmer of Eadin, N. C., who used to fire warplane guns over Japan. He banged a 69. His starting 67 made his two day total 136.

Four golfers were tied for third place at 137 as the pro field headed into the last two rounds today with the field cut to 32 low scorers and ties. You had to have 144 or better to stay in the chase for the $32,500 total of green stuff. The four at 137 were Clayton Heafner of Charlotte, N. C., 66-71; Henry Ransom, Chicago, 67-70; Jimmy Demaret, Ojai, Calif., 69-68; and Jim Turnesa, Briarcliff, N. J., 68-69.

Next at 138 were Sam Sneed, the year's No. 1 money grabber with 72-66; Ed Furgol, Royal Oaks, Mich., 68-70; and Bob Hamilton, Landover, Md., 72-66. Sneed and Hamilton made fine comebacks with their 66's but even better was that by Lloyd Mangrum, Tam's pro and the defending champion. Mangrum whipped out a 65—out in 35 and then a record-equaling 30 back. But he was a gone goose. His first round 76 left him in 58th place at 141.

"ARMY" - "NAVY" PLAY V-J TILT MONDAY NIGHT

Nature joined officials of the Gettysburg Community softball league Friday evening in sprinkling Recreation park and as a result there were no ball games.

To combat that, League President W. E. "Johnny" Knox asked aid of the fire company. Fire Chief James A. Aumen said it was all right to use a fire engine, so Knox, Donald Myers, William Gilbert and John German went with the fire truck to the Recreation park.

There they were sprinkling the playing field and the road leading to it when they noticed the skies getting darker. Soon nature joined the group in damping the field. When nature got through there was no dust at recreation park. There were no games either.

V-J Celebration

With Friday night out of the way, the loop officials continued with their plans for Monday night's V-J day contest between the Army and the Navy.

Ralph Johnson, manager of the Army team, announced among his players the following Samuel Weaver, Rodgers Herr, Donald Baker, Donald McSherry, Glen Hankey, Eugene Timbers, Howard Mackert, Philip Eberhart, Fred Wright, Orin Hixon, William Seiders, John Greiner, of the Cola Rangers, who will be catcher, John W. Roth, John Buckley and the following pitchers, George Houck, Clarence Bartholomew, Thomas McGlaughlin, Reds Tawney and Jay McGlaughlin.

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THE HAPPY UNEXPECTED

I had as a guest at my summer island retreat, recently, an old friend who for years has guided my efforts toward improved book knowledge. Col. M. E. Drake of New York. He brought along his delightful wife, as a foil perhaps, thinking that I might just talk books. We did nothing of the kind, however. We talked about trees! And he named one I had never heard of.

I had no idea of his coming—just went to the telephone and there was his voice just a few miles away. He had flown in. What a happy unexpected! It's little surprises like this which are always a spiritual lift. We can never fathom the joy and appreciation of those to whom we render some simple service, nor can they adequately appraise a like service to us.

A letter came to me as I started the day, from an old friend of whom I had not heard for a long time. It came so unexpectedly and gave such cheer to me, I immediately sat down and wrote many a letter to old friends with whom I had not been in contact for a long time. I hoped that they might be inspired by this sort of an unexpected event.

So many of the happiest triumphs in life come to us unexpectedly. For this reason alone we should never get too low in spirit. If we ever do then we can think out some plan to bring joy, or hope, or comfort to some one else—and we are low no more. It's that simple. It's the little things, so easy to perform, that pay the biggest dividends in happiness.

Never shall I forget the thoughtfulness of a friend, who sent to me a single rose each day when I was confined to a hospital. It was such a kind and unexpected thing to do. The bigger a person is the more he appreciates the little things, the unexpected remembrances. People shouldn't hunt for happiness. They should give it. That's the only way to find it.

Many years ago I read of a very wealthy man who made it his business to search out those who needed help, and he sent a check to them, arranging with his bank to keep his identity unknown. He helped and gave hope to scores of persons, and not until his death did people learn his real name. What a distributor of unexpected happiness! Had he given all his wealth away, he would still have died rich.

HOMECOMING

These are what life offers men:

Certain tasks to fill the day

And at evening home again,

With their children time to play;

Gardens free from weeds to keep,

Nights with calm, unbroken sleep.

Search the records of the years,

These are all that man can know:

Smiles and sorrow's sighs and tears,

Whether post be high or low,

And until the journey ends,

Time for loved ones; time for friends.

Fame and fortune give no more.

Love and peace are of the heart.

Cold the welcome at the door,

Hatred surely soon will start,

Nothing richer men possess

Than the gift of happiness.

This the humble man may gain,

This the greatest man may miss:

Joy of coming home again,

Welcome with a loving kiss,

Little more from start to close

Life on any man bestows.

Too many drivers seem to be successful only in improving their alibis.

Cause And Effect

I suppose it's natural on a hot day to lift the hood when the engine overheats. It does help to cool off the job, and it may be that the fan belt has broken, but somehow merely looking under the hood is very much like trying to fathom the cause of trouble by becoming too engrossed in its mere effects. That overheating may have started at points most distant from the engine. Typical is overheating from dragging brakes. Or perhaps the car is merely overloaded.

You may find that the engine is overheating because the engine is running too fast for the speed of the car. This means a slipping clutch. You'd never find a pinched or clogged tail pipe by gazing at the sweating motor.

Speed Top By Formula

Some years ago I gave a formula for finding out the top speed of a car. It may have saved some lives that night otherwise have been sacrificed by actually hitting the top speed bracket on the open road, so I have been asked to repeat it.

The first step is to determine from the specifications of the car the top speed of the engine. This engine speed per minute is then multiplied by the diameter of the rear wheel, including the tire. This total is then multiplied by 0.02974. Finally, divide this total by the rear axle reduction ratio. For those mathematically inclined the diameter of the rear wheel should be taken in inches.

Rear-View Blinding

If you have equipped your car's rear window with Venetian blinds be sure that you also use twin outside mirrors, otherwise you are likely to run afoul of regulations which insist that you have an unobstructed view of what goes on behind. If the car is equipped only with an inside mirror, and the blinds are closed, you can't see the situation in back of the car. That is illegal. Merely by adding outside mirrors, one on each side of the car, you get in under the wire again. You'll like outside mirrors anyway as they help the general rear-view picture.

Mechanic Joe Speaking:

"Special lubricants for the engine are, in my opinion, better when introduced through the crankcase rather than the gas tank. Engineers design motors so that the oil rings control the amount of oil for the cylinder walls so it should not be necessary to provide top-cylinder lubrication if the rings are working freely. Special gum solvent oils used in with the regular motor oil help free up any ring sludge that is interfering with normal ring action.

"Oils are not generally good for the carburetor, although there are some exceptions and one could always make out a good argument in the line of rust prevention. Experience seems to demonstrate that better results can be had with fewer objections by administering the special lubes through the crankcase route."

Well-schooled drivers tell me that being surprised at what happens when one is at the wheel is always a mark of incompetency. An operator should always expect anything and be adequately prepared for it. Being surprised merely evidences lack of imagination. If the driver has plenty of vision he can read the road accurately. That entails a high percentage of things which less experienced, less imaginative persons would consider as wholly unexpected.

While at the wheel it is always well to take all the eventualities into account, including the proper procedures when, and if, as they say in legal jargon. Imagination calls for a firm grasp on the wheel, plenty of margin for error in all handling of the car and a complete understanding of the incompetency of a high proportion of other users of the road.

Three To Remember

Another reason why the gears may slip out of high gear into neutral is because of excessive end-play in the countershaft of the transmission.

Expect to burn more oil on a very hot day—and often less gas.

Good fuel pump pressure will go a long way toward insuring against vapor lock when driving in high altitudes.

Hard Way Easiest

There has been so much discussion over easing credit terms as a means of helping the public come into possession of new cars somehow or other, we have lost sight of the fact that this is one form of easing that actually makes car buying more expensive. The most economical way of buying a car on the installment plan is to pay as much down as possible and to cut the number of monthly payments.

Actually the most economical way to buy a car is to save for it in advance, getting interest on the accumulating nest egg. Plenty of smart people do it this way.

Apreros Of Clutching

Failure to get into gear without clutching may be due to not having sufficiently heavy lubricant in the transmission. When you declutch the driven member of the clutch, the clutch gear and all the gears of the countershaft in the transmission continue to spin. How long this will continue depends not only on how fast the engine has been running and the weight of the various parts being rotated, but also on the resistance of the gear lube.

One owner who regularly backed out of the garage rather rapidly was always troubled by difficulty getting into low again. This is checked by not backing so swiftly and by the simple trick of shifting to second before going into low.

Patience A Remedy

Tourists who complain of having had to wait awhile for some car condition to clear up really do not realize that they have been applying one of the most practical cures for many a motor ailment. Waiting often pays dividends. It is, for example, the most valuable remedy for vapor lock—that condition in which gasoline goes into vapor form in the lines because of excess heat or because the fuel itself is too volatile. Remember this particularly if touring in higher altitudes.

What's Your Trouble?

Q. In spite of using a new gasket and a new cylinder head there still is leakage of water. We were very careful to have the contacting surfaces clean. What's wrong?—K. L. F.

A. The block may be warped or the head nuts have not been drawn down in proper sequence.

Q. I have followed the plan suggested in one of the instrument manuals for setting the hand brake and find that it doesn't work at all on my car. This said to press down firmly on the foot brake pedal while pulling back on the hand lever.

A. This rule is only for cars which have the hand brake operating through the two rear wheel brakes. On your car the hand brake is located just behind the transmission on the propeller shaft.

Q. How do loose spark plugs cause high oil consumption?—H. B.

A. By admitting air and letting compression leak they interfere with combustion pressure and action of the oil at the rings. Oil then gets by the rings too freely.

Q. What is the best way to remove rust spots from chromium? Is there any touch-up chromium paint?—H. F. W.

A. Use household sink cleanser for removing the rust. Then apply some wax. There is no touch-up chromium. About the best you can do, other than have parts re-chromed, is to prevent further deterioration of the finish.

Q. I find that I cannot accelerate the engine properly without pulling the choke control part way out. I have been told that this indicates a weak fuel pump.—R. G., Jr.

A. The fact that choking helps the motor also proves that the fuel pump is delivering the goods. To get results from choking there must be fuel in the carburetor float chamber. Check for air leakage around the intake manifold, or a cracked manifold.

Q. I can't seem to find the cause of a very annoying vibration around the engine. It sounds like something in the glove compartment but I have taken everything out and still hear the noise. On a smooth road I don't get this vibration at all.

A. The hood spring on the right hand side of the car is vibrating. Slip a piece of garden hose over it by slitting the hosing lengthwise.

Q. Why is it that so many of the new cars are smoking at the exhaust? Does this indicate that they

SAY KANHSIEN HOLDING FIRM AGAINST REDS

By SPENCER MOOSA

Canton, Aug. 13 (P)—Kanhshien, gateway city to Canton, was reported standing firm today against furious assaults by from 50,000 to 60,000 Communist troops.

A Chinese army spokesman said the Reds still were unable to crack the city's defenses. Pro-government dispatches said fighting raged in the outskirts of that city 215 miles northeast of Canton.

The provincial officials have fled from that capital of Kiangsi province, but the governor is said to be directing Kanhshien's defense. He is Gen. Fang Tien, who also is commander-in-chief of the armed forces in Kiangsi.

Try To Isolate Foochow

On the southeast China front, heavy fighting was reported developing in a Communist attempt to isolate the big port of Foochow. Foochow lies opposite the Nationalist redoubt of Formosa.

Press reports said the Communists were trying to capture Yungtai, 30 miles southwest of Foochow. It was here that the heaviest fighting was in progress.

However, sharp clashes also were reported around the Min river front, between Mintsing and Shuihow, 30 and 40 miles upstream from Foochow.

At the western extremity of the broad south China front, the Communists kept up the pressure along the railway leading to Canton.

Their current objective is Hengshan, 290 miles north of Canton. The Nationalists blew up two railway bridges north of Hengshan in an attempt to slow the main Red advance.

Hengshan guards the northern approaches to the stronghold of Hengyang, headquarters for Gen. Pai Chung-hsi, commander-in-chief in south China. Hengyang is 35 miles south of Hengshan.

PA. MAY RECEIVE U. S. BLIND FUNDS

Washington, Aug. 13 (P)—A measure sponsored by Pennsylvania's two members of the House Ways and Means committee may end a 13-year controversy between the state and federal governments.

Reps. Herman P. Eberharter, Pittsburgh Democrat, and Richard M. Simpson, Huntingdon Republican, won committee approval yesterday of an amendment which would permit Pennsylvania to receive federal funds for pensions to the blind.

The Congressmen estimated if Pennsylvania decides to continue paying the same amounts from its own treasury and receives federal assistance the state will be able to increase pensions by about $25 a month at no additional cost.

The amendment would make possible federal contributions for the needy blind, as that term is understood in the federal act.

Pennsylvania hasn't been receiving federal funds because its state plan is more generous than the federal plan. Also, in the federal sense, the state does not make its payments strictly on a basis of need.

The amendment is subject to congressional and presidential approval before becoming a law. But both Eberharter and Simpson are quite hopeful it will be approved.

MINE JOURNAL ASSAILS CIO

Washington, Aug. 13 (P)—John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers Journal today bitterly assailed the CIO leadership for agreeing to sign non-Communist affidavits.

CIO Chief Philip Murray and his associates in the CIO Steel Workers Union recently announced that they were finally bowing to the Taft-Hartley Act requirement and signing the oaths so the union could use machinery of the National Labor Relations Board.

That left Lewis and only a handful of other labor leaders as hold-outs.

"Anti-union newspapers and politicians and small-time economic grasshoppers will probably have the surrender as an example of law-abiding labor statesmanship—but we have another version," the mine workers journal said editorially.

The HOUSE on LILAC STREET

by FRED BAYARD

AP Newsfeature

Chapter 7

Beacon street had long since seen better days. The houses were all of a uniform ugliness, and were long past their prime. The inside of Number 38 was not as forbidding as the outside, but the apparent neatness was that of a housekeeper whose method of tidying up is limited to sticking odds and ends in drawers and behind doors.

Like her house, there were few pretensions about Fifi Warnock. Such character as she possessed could be read on her face, and could be described in one word "Avarice." Most of her life had been spent wanting things she never got, and from morning till night, she had never ceased berating her husband for his failure to provide her with what she termed the simple luxuries of life. The years had enabled Ben Warnock to adapt himself completely to her constant nagging; in fact, he rarely heard her, so well had he trained himself.

It was barely twenty minutes to ten when Fifi heard the sound of feet on the veranda. Not waiting for the bell to ring, she opened the door. She stood aside to let William Owens pass her.

"Go right into the front room and make yourself at home," she barked. "I sure am anxious to hear if that business you talked to me about can be worked out."

"There's no doubt about it, Mrs. Warnock," he replied. "All the arrangements have been made. Mind you, it's a bit unethical, but you and I know that the ultimate purpose is to surprise your husband. After all, it's perfectly legitimate to take out a policy of insurance on his life. His being notified of the fact is a mere technicality—a mere technicality." He beamed at her smugly. Opening his briefcase, which lay beside him on the couch, he began to sort several papers.

"Here we are," he looked up at her. "A few more questions to be answered, and then I'll just get you to sign these, and that's all there is to it. In view of his present age, a physical examination will, of course, be unnecessary."

The agent completed several particulars. "There now, if you'll just sign at the bottom." He held the application form flat on his briefcase while Mrs. Warnock signed where he indicated.

She looked up at him inquiringly. "When will I get the policy, and when am I supposed to pay?"

He laughed at her eagerness. "You pay your part of the first premium today. We'll look after the balance, as I explained to you. I'll see that your policy is rushed through. It might be wise for you to pick the policy up yourself. Three of us have a sort of headquarters at this end of town, in a laundry store, the Liberty Laundry on Maple Street. Do you know it?"

Fifi nodded. "I know about where it is."

"Fine," Owens stuffed the papers back into the case. Methodically, he screwed the cap on his pen and clipped it into his pocket. "Come in sometime Saturday morning, and I'll have everything ready for you."

He looked about him. "Yes, indeed, Mrs. Warnock, you've made an excellent investment, and I know you won't regret it. It'll give you a sense of security."

Aunt Sarah Murzon regarded Derria with a baleful look. "You're foolish and obstinate," Sarah said angrily.

Derria put her arm around Sarah's thin shoulders.

"I think you're just a bit peeved that you weren't here when it all happened. Look, I'm not exactly accustomed to being made a fool of. Nobody's going to walk in on me and ask for my help, and then walk right out of the picture when it suits them—not to mention the nerve of taking my car to do it with."

"I haven't anything much to go on," she continued, "but I feel that I owe it to myself to go back to where it all started and take a look around. "No," she interrupted, as Sarah was about to protest. "I don't want you to go alone. If I'm going to get anywhere at all, I feel I can do better alone, you old watchdog." The latter part of the sentence was accompanied by a tender look which belied the harsh words.

"I'll drive you into the village," Derria said, returning with a large wicker shopping basket. "Get together all your stuff. It won't take me out of my way at all, and you'll be through with your marketing that much earlier."

It was well on toward ten-thirty before Sarah entered the Farmers' Market. One of the finest in the district, it was always well patronized even by people from the city. The usual drone of voices and general hubbub struck Sarah as she entered one of the large doors at the front of the building.

Most of the local farmers and market gardeners had stalls, and it was toward one of these that Sarah now made her way.

"One moment," Maria Rosetti said. "I just finished these," indicating a number of parcels she was wrapping for a customer. This completed, she came over toward Sarah. With an odd, almost furtive air, she asked:

"Mees Derria, she is all right?" The tone of the question, rather than the question itself, puzzled Sarah.

"Derria? Why certainly. She drove me in to shop this morning, and then she went to the city on an errand. Do you ask?"

Maria appeared confused, almost as if she regretted having spoken. She did not answer at once, but began to gather up Sarah's parcels. Leaning forward to take Sarah's shopping basket, Maria spoke so softly that Sarah could barely hear her.

"Tell Mees Derria I come over tomorrow. Sometimes when I get a chance."

A woman was approaching the stand. Startled by the unexpectedness of Maria's remarks, Sarah felt more questions rushing to her lips. She felt the basket pushed quickly into her hands.

"Plees, you don't forget your basket," Maria gave her a long look that, somehow, seemed to sound a warning, and turned toward the new customer.

LAWMAKERS GENERALLY OK CANADA PLAN

By JACK BELL

Washington, Aug. 13 (P)—Lawmakers voiced general approval today of a proposal to swap military supplies with Canada, although some of them picked flaws in the plan.

Secretary of defense Johnson reported to President Truman and the cabinet yesterday that the Canadians want to barter warships, aircraft, small arms ammunition and other things they make for American supplies. This would help keep Canada's dollar reserves intact but still provide her with equipment she can get only in this country.

The defense secretary said he is very much in favor of the idea. And so were many members of Congress.

Pick Some Flaws

Chairman Connally (D-Texas) of the Senate Foreign Relations committee said the proposal looks as if it might "be helpful to both countries."

But Senator Maybank (D-S.C.) said he doesn't like the idea of exchanging U. S. supplies for anti-submarine vessels, one of the Canadian items named.

Senator Magnuson (D-Wash.) cautioned against going into any deal by which the Canadians would be called upon to produce highly technical war equipment and thus do away with the need for trained personnel and know-how in this country.

Other Points Of View

Senator Bridges (R-N.H.) said that if the plan involves acquiring naval vessels from Canada, he doesn't think it will work out.

"We've got more ships tied up now that we know what to do with," he observed. "I would be very reluctant to see us go into a proposition that would mean more unemployment for our people, particularly around the Navy yards."

However, Senator Gurney (R-S.D.) said he favors any 50-50 swap that will give each country what it needs.

To Continue Fight

The Canadian arms question seemed likely to have no direct bearing on the foreign military supplies program, heading for test votes in House and Senate committees next week.

The House Foreign Affairs committee probably will vote Monday, with indications that the full $1-450,000,000 program will get its approval.

Critics who lost an effort to cut the amount on a tie vote said they will carry their fight to the House floor.

The Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services committees, working jointly on the bill, may reach a vote Tuesday.

PA. GUARDSMEN GOING HOME

Indiantown Gap, Pa., Aug. 13 (P)—The road to home beckoned today to 10,000 troops of the Pennsylvania National Guard's 28th infantry division.

Unit after unit boarded motor convoys or trains as the 28th's two-week encampment came to a close.

Maj. Gen. Daniel B. Strickler, Lancaster, division commander, thought that the Keystone state's civilian soldiers did a good job, declaring:

"The status of training of the division shows great improvement over last year. Reports from all visiting inspectors and higher commanders were highly complimentary. I am well-satisfied with the results of training and enthusiastic spirit of my troops."

But before the first train left last night, the division's artillery-men came in for special honors.

Trophies were awarded to battery A, 108th field artillery battalion, Philadelphia, for proficiency and to headquarters battery, 109th field artillery battalion, Wilkes-Barre, for maintenance.

A summary by positions of the training camp rosters of teams in the All-America Conference shows 69 ends, 73 tackles, 62 guards, 40 centers and 162 backs.

SENATE PUTS PRESSURE ON REORGANIZATION

Washington, Aug. 13 (AP)—Senate leaders today stepped up action on two government reorganization plans after President Truman partly urged their approval as a sign of good faith by Congress.

In a strongly-worded letter to Vice President Barkley yesterday, Mr. Truman observed: "The action taken on these plans will demonstrate whether the many recent professions of support for increased efficiency and economy in government are to be taken seriously or are to be written off as political oratory."

The two proposals—one to set up a cabinet-rank department of welfare, the other to transfer two employment agencies from the Federal Security Agency to the Labor Department—have received thumbs-down treatment from the Senate expenditures committee.

The President said Senate objections to the plans "appear to me to be ill-founded and mistaken." And he added that Congressional failure to approve the proposals would imperil "the whole great endeavor" of government reorganization.

Senate Democratic Leader Lucas (Ill.) announced yesterday that he will set aside the money bill for the Interior Department to take up the Welfare Department reorganization plan on Tuesday.

He said the Senate will hold a night session, if necessary to complete action on the first plan, so the second one can be taken up Wednesday.

Under the reorganization act, the plans go into effect automatically within 60 days after being submitted by the President, unless either House disapproves. August 17 is the deadline for Senate action on both plans, Lucas said.

Joseph H. Adams, Miami, association president, also disclosed that of the big feature, Pennsylvania has spent $25,000,000 on its hotels.

He addressed a conference of hotel officials from Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Maryland, Delaware and the District of Columbia here yesterday.

Under the reorganization act, the plans go into effect automatically within 60 days after being submitted by the President, unless either House disapproves. August 17 is the deadline for Senate action on both plans, Lucas said.

Copies of "United States Relations with China," the "White Paper" just released by the Department of State, are now available to the public through the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D. C. at $3.00 a copy. This 1,054-page, buckram-bound volume is a compilation of the records of our relations with China, with special emphasis on the last five years.

More than 5,000,000 hay fever and pollen asthma victims in the United States can obtain greater relief this year than ever before as a result of the development of new "desensitizing" compounds, a survey of recent scientific studies showed today.

Whereas only a few years ago, the drugs available for the relief of sneezes, sniffles, allergic hives and bleary eyes suffered by pollenosis victims numbered only a handful and were prescribed by only about one doctor in five, today there are about 15 such products being prescribed by about two doctors in three, along with many other drugs and vaccines providing both temporary relief and season-long immunity to attack.

The new symptom-relieving drugs, classified by the medical profession as "anti-histamines," have been evaluated by sound clinical research with human patients. One of them, Trimeton, has been found so effective that its use has been ordered for Boston school system pupils suffering from hay fever and pollen asthma.

Of 227 patients treated with Trimeton by doctors associated with the Allergy Clinic of the Boston Dispensary, 90 per cent of the hay fever sufferers and 80 per cent of those with mild bronchial asthma and hives were free of all symptoms within an hour after treatment. The drug, available only through physicians, is in tablet form and does away with painful injections.

VICE PRESIDENT IS SPEAKER AT ALTOONA FETE

Altoona, Pa., Aug. 13 (AP) — Vice President Alben W. Barkley says leadership of the world has been thrust into the hands of the U. S. "so billions can raise their heads as free people."

"What we are trying to preserve is priceless," Barkley said last night in a feature speech of Altoona's week-long centennial celebration.

In serious vein, the former majority leader in the Senate declared the U. S. is spending "five to six billions dollars a year to help other nations preserve freedom in the world." He added that when democracy is threatened in one section of the world democracy everywhere is threatened.

Given Miniature Bell

Commenting on the progress the U. S. and Altoona have made in the past 100 years, Barkley declared: "This country was founded by people who came here to find religious freedom. We must forever maintain separation of church and state."

Just before leaving for Paducah, Ky., where he is being honored today, the vice president was presented a miniature locomotive bell by C. I. Clugh, works manager of the Pennsylvania Railroad. Barkley, whose name has been linked romantically with Mrs. Charles S. Hadley, St. Louis widow, accepted the bell and laughingly commented: "The newspapers have been filling my ears with rumors about bells in recent weeks but this bell has a real ding to it."

President To Make Labor Day Speech

Pittsburgh, Aug. 13 (AP) — President Truman will deliver a Labor Day address in Pittsburgh.

The President will speak at the annual Allegheny County Free Fair.

during the labor and industry parade which preceded Barkley's address.

Senator Francis J. Myers (D-Pa.) predicted in a speech there will be "a dramatic new expansion in the railroad industry if railroad management and labor continue modernizing their thinking."

The Pennsylvania senator had this to say of railroad-labor relations: "Railroad labor long ago came to recognize that the best way they can help themselves climb up the economic ladder was to help the railroads do a better job. Management, on its side learned, too, that well-paid, secure and happy employees were alert and interested employees, were conscious not merely of today's pay check but of today's opportunities in a healthy industry."

He'll be introduced to more than 100,000 persons shortly after noon.

The Pittsburgh appearance will be the first of two Labor Day addresses for Mr. Truman. He is scheduled to appear later the same day at the national convention of American Veterans of World War II at Des Moines, Ia.

The President is expected to arrive in Pittsburgh too late to review the annual Labor Day parade of AFL unions. The AFL says it's going "all out" this year to line up thousands of members to march as a protest against the Taft-Hartley law. The President is bitterly opposed to the law.
